

DOMAINE DUSEIGNEUR

A Rhône Valley Legacy Rooted in Harmony with Nature

The Vigneron family settled in Saint-Laurent-des-Arbres on the right bank of the Rhône River generations ago. Bernard, the current head of the domaine, inherited the estate from his father and brother in 2002, dedicating himself passionately to winemaking.

Previously working in investment banking in London, Bernard was drawn back to his Mediterranean homeland and its natural beauty. Establishing his base in Châteauneuf-du-Pape on the left bank of the Rhône, he embraces the philosophy that harmonious relationship with nature produces exceptional grapes and wines.

In 2002, Bernard converted all his vineyards to biodynamic practices, obtaining organic certification (BIO) by 2004. His holdings now include vineyards in Châteauneuf-du-Pape, Roussillon, and he also crafts distinctive wines from Côte du Rhône Villages, Côte du Rhône, and some non-AOC designated bottlings.

Since 2007, Bernard has partnered with Philippe Faure-Brac, the world's best sommelier of 1992, to continuously refine the quality of his wines.
