

DOMAINE PHILIPPE GARREY

Philippe Galley and his family manage a 5-hectare domaine with a strong commitment to natural viticulture. Transitioning to organic farming in 2005 and biodynamic methods in 2008, Philippe carefully selects grapes both in the vineyard and again at the winery.

For his Mercurey 1er Cru reds, Philippe retains 40–50% whole clusters, while in Mercurey 1er Cru La Chassière, he increases this to 75%. Only native yeasts are used during fermentation, which begins after a cold maceration of 4–5 days at 7–8°C.

To encourage yeast activity, Philippe employs daily remontage (pumping over) at the start of fermentation. As fermentation nears completion, he switches to daily pigeage (punching down) to gently mix the must.

This unique wine is crafted from one of Burgundy's rare appellations, Aligoté. To preserve its freshness, fermentation takes place in a combination of stainless steel and ceramic tanks, enhancing the wine's aromatic complexity. Fermentation is carried out with wild yeasts, followed by 18 months of aging—12 months in oak barrels and 6 months in tank. On the nose, expect sweet aromas reminiscent of apples and fresh peaches. The palate reveals refined minerality drawn from the clay-limestone soils, with delicate white fruit and floral notes. The acidity is gentle, making this wine approachable yet elegant. It also benefits from extended bottle aging.

This cuvée is made from grapes harvested from vines averaging 60 to 85 years old on a 1-hectare vineyard. After one year of aging in barrels—30% new oak—the wine is further matured for six months in tank. Notably, the grapes are fermented whole-cluster without destemming, allowing fermentation to begin within intact berries. The winery's philosophy emphasizes harvesting fully ripe grapes; as a result, the stems are also mature, preventing any green bitterness and contributing harmonious tannins.

The bouquet features aromas of red berries and a plush, rich character. On the palate, the wine evolves from refreshing herbal notes to spicy nuances, delivering a vibrant and lively expression.

Due to a poor Pinot Noir harvest in his own vineyard in 2020, Philippe sourced grapes from a friend in the Languedoc region to produce this experimental Syrah. The wine displays a solid structure with rich flavors of red and black berries. Elegant oak aromas linger gracefully, complemented by an exotic, spicy finish.
